ABOUT US

Dr. Mandell is a 1975 graduate of the Boston University School of Dental Medicine and received a government scholarship for his periodontal training at Harvard University. He completed his periodontal training in 1980 and also earned a Masters in Medical Sciences in Oral Biology. Dr. Mandell won the 1980 Orban Prize from the American Academy of Periodontology for his periodontal research. Dr. Mandell has previously held faculty appointments in Periodontology at the Medical College of Virginia and Emory University, Atlanta, Georgia. While at Emory, Dr. Mandell served as the assistant director of the periodontal research center. Since returning to Massachusetts, Dr. Mandell has continued his research as a member of the Periodontal Research Center at the Forsyth Dental Center located in Boston, Massachusetts. His research interests include juvenile periodontitis, a form of gum disease in children, and the periodontal complications of diabetes. Dr. Mandell is a Diplomate of the American Board of Periodontology, the only certifying board in the dental specialty of periodontology.
